Thats why its a good idea to understand what portion of the mind is emphasized in the diagram below. The part of the mind that is emphasized is that the frontal lobe. The reason for highlighting its since the frontal lobe guides and controls the rest of the brain.

<http://impressionmexico.com/images/canon-pc170-copier-manual.pdf>

In addition, it coordinates all of the senses, which assists the person to observe a specific sound, smell or sight. The fact that it is highlighted implies that it is very important for a person to pay attention to it. Without paying attention to it, the individual wont get any advice and what will come to a standstill. The front area of the brain accounts for memory, whereas the back part of the brain accounts for judgment and analysis. Some folks also believe the extra white part of the mind, or the neocortex, is also highlighted in the diagram. That would indicate that the person who has an additional white section of the brain is smarter than another individuals on the planet. Besides the various areas of the mind, the structure below also shows you the various functions of each part of the brain. It includes the frontal lobe, which controls and directs the other areas of the brain. Some individuals might have an extra white or additional neocortex, but other people do not. Figure 2 at the diagram below, and it can be highlighted, shows what is called the physical based sensations. A few of those senses are hearing, sight, touch, taste, odor, pain, and imagination. The human mind is about ten times more complex than a calculator. What is meant by the mind is something very important. It could be the brain that makes people tick and proceed forward as one unit. Its always beneficial to know what part of the mind is highlighted in the diagram below. Ultimately, you should have learned what part of the brain is highlighted in the diagram below. Everything you thought you knew could have been completely different if you had known this.
