After the machine was returned to its location the machine stops mid cycle with a flashing Active light,and the door is openable after a short while.Any help most appreciated Ta nilan01I tried the usualy things clear any kinks in pipe check filter in screw connections try water supply in bucket. Talked to Bosch about Service Manual but they stated that I would have to use a service man !!!! Bought a new double cold water fill solenoid from Bosch On line great service they just refuse to tell you how to fit the spare part they have just sold you fitted it myself did not take long tried it out and again trickle of water. I was just about to boot wash into skip when I thought maybe the temp setting is significant. Found the diode thermocouple btm of drum between heater element connection disconnected it. Tried cycle again and it worked fine got a new thermocouple on order will let you know if its the cure. PS if that does not work it can only be control module if thats the case Bosch and I will part company.After metering out all my hot and cold feeds, I ended up replacing the cold inlet valve as it was slightly down, in an attempt to remedy the problem. It did not resolve the issue, so that was 40 down the drain. The machine stopped spinning one day, a classic symptom of needing new brushes. Replaced the brushes which is very simple by the way, took me 20 mins start to finish, and the active light is no longer flashing and stopping the machine from finishing its cycle. Hope this helps anyone out there with a similar problem. Get your brushes off ebay, cheapest by far.
